

1

Opportunities under the new Act

- Go-live for the Procurement Act is 24 February 2025. Are your teams prepared for the changes that will apply to opportunities you will be bidding for after that date?

2

Ready and in position

- Register as a supplier for the new, free Central Digital Platform. You will be able to enter background information once for use in multiple procurements under the Act.

3

Do you know your supply chain?

- Exclusion decisions under the Act can be based on sub-contractors or associated suppliers.
- Have you completed appropriate due diligence on your own suppliers and sub-contractors to identify whether any are excluded or excludable under the Act?
- Do you have terms in place to agree any necessary changes to your supply chain at short notice?
- Watch our video about Getting your Supply Chain in Order.

4

Take stock of your current performance

- Where you are experiencing issues with performance, take stock of your options for remedying this. The grounds for exclusion for poor performance are expanded under the Act and may also apply where you agree a settlement with the public sector.
- Are you ready for your performance against published KPIs to be reported publicly?
- Watch our video about Monitoring KPIs under the Procurement Act.

5

New and expanded exclusion grounds

- The Act has updated and extended the exclusion grounds with some new circumstances potentially triggering exclusion (and even debarment) under the Act. Have you checked whether any will apply to your organisation?
- Watch our video about the expanded exclusion grounds

6

Benefiting from the new notices

- Do you have arrangements in place to monitor publication of notices so you hear about procurements promptly, and also keep up to date with the pipeline of opportunities?

7

Get familiar with the Act

- Bookmark "Navigating the changes under the Procurement Act" to stay up to date on the latest on the Procurement Act.
- Is it time to book in for some training for yourself and the team with Osborne Clarke? Get in touch with one of our experts.

